

It's Cheap as Chips..... The Antiques Challenge

A unique idea for team or individual interactive competition.

'Viewing commences and antiques like these and many other are examined during this informal, informative and entertaining quiz.

The antiques expert (with more than 20 years experience in the auction world) is on hand to guide you through a selection of silver, pottery, rugs and intriguing country house items from the past.

Perhaps you can spot the 'fake' or value the 'star item'. With appraisals to complete and questions to answer, there is much to do before we move into the auction room!!

With a pocket full of 'credit' and newly discovered insider knowledge this final round could make or break you or your team and lead us to the eventual 'prize winners'.

As a team building event on its own or part or augmented with a sophisticated wine tasting, great fun is guaranteed and you are sure to come away that bit richer..... at least in knowledge.
